REPORTED RESIGNATION OF
HEAD OF THE INDIAN AF-FAIRS NOT CORRECT.

LORIMER MATTER IS UP

Senate May Be Ready To Vote On Question Tomorrow Morning At The Latest.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, July 10.—The White House and the interior department are receiving many letters from all parts of the country suggesting available men to succeed Robert C. Valentine, commissioner of Indian affairs.

This has led to a wide spread report that the commissioner has resigned, and at the White House it was stated positively that no resignation had been received there.

It was reported, however, that because of troubles that have arisen in connection with the so-called religious garb order affecting the dress of Roman Catholic teachers in Indian schools he might quit the office in the near future.

When the senate took up the Lorimer case today it was indicated that all speeches except Senator Lorimer's would be concluded before night and that vote would be reached tomorrow.

Senator Johnson of Alabama, democrat who supported Mr. Lorimer at the first trial opened today's session with a spirited speech in his behalf. He conceded a popular demand for Lorimer's unseating and said he knew he would be on the unpopular side but declared, "I refuse to save myself at the sacrifice of my honor."

Senator Johnson said the number of printed copies of the Lorimer hearing taken from the senate document room indicated that less than half the senators had read the evidence in the case.

He condemned as "unchristian and unAmerican" Colonel Roosevelt's course in declining to sit with Senator Lorimer at the Hamilton club's dinner at Chicago.

Senator James of Washington who opposed Lorimer at the first trial but who supports him, spoke after Senator Johnson. Senator Lea in opposition to Lorimer was expected next to speak.

Mr. Lorimer indicated he would not begin his speech at the close of the session but would ask for a recess until tomorrow if today's debate was protracted.

Appropriation of $250,000 for the tariff board and $20,000 for the international waterways commission were restored to the sundry civil bill reported today by the senate.

Because of the bubonic plague situation the house appropriation for prevention of epidemics by the public health service was increased to $1,000,000.

PROGRAM OUTLINED BY SUB-COMMITTEE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, July 10.—Members of the sub-committee of nine of the republican national committee who remained in Washington today for conferences with national chairman Charles D. Hilles, Representative William B. McKinley and other leaders of the program which they expected would be followed on July 19 at a meeting in New York to select a national treasurer and appoint an executive and advisory committee. It was the sentiment of most of the committee members here that the advisory committee would be composed chiefly of men not on the republican national committee. It seemed to be settled, however, that national committeemen William Barnes, Jr. of New York, would be a member. Senator W. Murray Crane, former representative James A. Towney, of Minnesota, Senator Norris Brown, Nebraska, Otto Stifel, Missouri and Representative McKinley were all talked of for the places. There was a pronounced sentiment in favor of having the progressive element of the party represented.

For the executive committee John T. Adams of Iowa, Charles B. Warren of Michigan, Thomas N. Niedringhaus of Missouri and Ralph E. Williams of Oregon were being considered. The western men are pressing for the appointment of national treasurer from some middle western or western state. Chairman Hilles was busy today turning over his work at the White House to the assistant secretaries. He probably will go to New York today to arrange for the opening of national headquarters.

Young Tees has so constructed the biplane that he will steer it from the front or rear in case of break at the rear end. The biplane is built of spruce and the engine bed is of ash. The outer riggers are of bamboo and the young man believes he will be able to send the airplane through the air at a rate of speed of sixty miles an hour.

The wardens were notified of the examination over a year ago and were told that their future advancement in the service depended largely upon the showing there to be made.

To the surprise of all of the 38 wardens each was given a medical examination yesterday to ascertain if there was evidence that any of the wardens had settled down to take life easy. Secretary F. E. Doty of the civil service commission said today that the good showing made by most of the wardens was a great surprise and a source of much gratification, and that he was confident that a cohesive body of active, vigilant officers is being trained to render the state the best of service.

DISSATISFACTION IN INSURRECTO RANKS; NEW REBEL JUNTA

Vasquistas Sympathizers Working Secretly Among Rebel Soldiers to Get Them to Abandon Leadership of Orozco.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Juarez, July 10.—When General Pascual Orozco, Jr., arrives here he must face dissatisfaction in the ranks of his soldiers. A new rebel junta has been organized and secretly has been working among the troops with the idea of persuading them to abandon the leadership of General Orozco and recognize General David de la Fuente, as military chief with Emilio Vasquez Gomez as civil head of the rebel cause.

The Vasquistas sympathizers, originators of the present revolt which was appropriated by Orozco who repudiated Vasquez Gomez have reason and the malicious spirit conspicuous among rebels of late may be traced to Vasquistas' influences.

It is understood the Vasquistas leaders will meet in a few days in San Antonio, Texas, and consider plans for deposing Orozco. The Vasquistas have been anxious ever since Emilio Vasquez Gomez was overthrown by Orozco to assume charge of the revolution but not until recent events when Orozco began to meet with military reverses have they found encouraging response in the rebel ranks.

General Orozco was expected to reach here today. His stay in Juarez was declared would be short. His next headquarters will be at Casas Grandes.

BREAK INTO OFFICE BLATZ BREWING CO.

Burglar Gained Entrance Last Night by Breaking Glass Panel in Door—Watch and Stamps Stolen

Entrance to the office of the Blatz Brewing Company's warehouse was forced last night by a burglar who broke the glass panel in the door, making it possible for him to unlock it from the inside. Blood was spattered about the intel and floor indicating the burglar cut his hand in breaking his way in. A gold watch valued at $40 belonging to T. F. Reed, the company's driver was taken from a drawer in the desk, and about $250 worth of stamps. There was nothing to indicate that the safe had been tampered with, and the door to the storage room was not forced. Acting Chief of Police John Brower is of the opinion that the robbery is the work of an amateur as he was not clever enough to break the glass without cutting his fingers. Box cars screened the front of the office from view and the numerous trains passing during the night made it possible for the work to be carried on without attracting attention.

Action Involves Sum Estimated at Hundred Thousand Dollars or More—Demands the Property.

An action to have the will of the late Simon Strauss of Orford, set aside has been filed in the circuit court, papers in the case being filed in the circuit court and register of deeds' office today.

The plaintiff seeks to have the will made by Mr. Strauss on December 1, 1911, set aside, and provide for the turning of all the estate over to her, in fulfillment of a contract which it is alleged was made between the plaintiff and the deceased, whereby Mrs. Wolff was to receive all of the estate for certain considerations she claims she fulfilled.

The amount of property left by Mr. Strauss at his death, it is estimated, was about one hundred thousand dollars, and under the will which the plaintiff seeks to have set aside, she would have received but $25,000.

PORTUGUESE REBELS WORK CLEVER RUSE

Royalists Encourage Attack on City of Cabeciras Which is Found Completely Deserted

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Lisbon, July 10.—The royalist rebels in the north of Portugal again outmaneuvered the republican government troops today. After the sanguinary encounter of yesterday at the town of Cabeciras de Basto, which was held in strong force by the royalists who defeated the 5th regiment of infantry, reinforcements of government troops were rushed to the scene of fighting and a strong cordon of infantry advanced on the insurrectionary town pouring in a heavy fire. A few shots were the only response to this attack and when the final assault was made by the government troops with fixed bayonets, the rebels found the streets deserted and all the houses empty. The inhabitants to a man withdrew to the mountains with the royalists and now are hidden along the passes unless the Portuguese movement decides to weaken the garrison of Lisbon and Oporto, which would be a dangerous measure to take in view of the possibility of revolutionary outbreaks in the big cities, it seems likely that the royalists are likely to continue for some time to come. The situation may be compared in some respects to that which existed on the Mexican American border at the opening of the revolution there. The royalists here retreat to foreign soil in Spain when they are hard pushed by the government troops.

BRICK PAVEMENT FOR NORTH DIVISION ST.

Council Votes to Improve Block From East Milwaukee Street to North First Street.

Provision for the grading and paving with brick of North Division street from East Milwaukee street to North First street was made by the Council yesterday when the Board of Public Works was directed to view the premises and determine the benefits and damages thereto incident to the improvement. As it was necessary to grade the street it was thought best to permanently improve the street at the same time rather than put in a less substantial pavement that would soon need replacement.

Repairs were ordered made to Milton avenue from St. Mary's avenue to the city limits. Notice was ordered served on the owners of lots at the West Bluff and Madison streets, being the Norwegian church property to build cement or brick aprons. The Superintendent of streets was directed to build a brick cross-walk across East Street on the North side of North First Street.

The resignation of Mrs. Thomas S. Nolan as member of the Public Library Board was accepted by the council. John Dalton, flag-man for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway was re-appointed special policeman without pay, his term to expire September 8. The City Clerk was instructed to renew the insurance on the city's fire engine. One hundred and fifty feet of garden hose was ordered purchased for use in the parks.

SUFFRAGE SPEAKERS ARE WELL RECEIVED

Good Sized Audiences. Hear Miss Harriet Grimm at Orfordville and Footville—Support Promised.

The Woman's Political Equality League were met with unqualified enthusiasm, in their trip of yesterday despite the heat. Their first stop was at Janover at 4 o'clock, from there to Orfordville at 6:45, making Footville at 8:15, where Miss Grimm spoke to two hundred people, indicating the enthusiasm of the country people about the subject. Mr. Sarasy of the drug store there had advertised it thoroughly, and the speaker took her place before his store in the midst of an enthusiastic audience.

Miss Grimm drew a graphic picture of the difficulties encountered by wage earners in the large cities. In the laundries you will find working from fifteen to eighteen hours a day, standing on one foot, while regulating a machine with the other and to step or lean either forward or backward for rest or change of position would mean severe injury, or possible death from the machines.

In trying to have laws passed for reasonable hours the women have encountered the same trouble here as elsewhere. She is not regarded as an individual who counts without her vote.

—She told of the thirty—thousand wage earning women of New York City, who marched down the street led by a committee of three women to interview the Mayor recently.

Women are subject to the law as are the men, if she steals, she is put in jail and fined, if she commits murder, she is hanged just as surely as the man. Why not give her equality of rights? said Miss Grimm.

At the close of Miss Grimm's lecture at Footville, large numbers were eager to give their substantial support to the cause, and quite a collection was taken. The men wherever they go seem glad and willing to give their support in the effort to gain the vote for women this fall. Mrs. F. A. Capelle, Miss Carrie Zeininger and Miss Julia Lovejoy accompanied Miss Grimm.

FINED FOR DROPPING GRAVEL ON STREETS

John Rehfield Pleads Guilty to Violating City Ordinance and Pays $5 and Costs.

John Rehfield, charged with scattering gravel from his wagon on South Main and Pleasant streets on July 2, in violation of a city ordinance, pleaded guilty to the offense before Justice Charles Lange in the municipal court this morning. On the recommendation of City Attorney William Dougherty, who declared that the defendant had not committed the violation by intent, the minimum penalty of $5 and costs, amounting to $7.50, was imposed.

Many complaints have been made to the police of teamsters loading their wagons in such a manner that gravel and sand is scattered over the street. The larger stones are often struck by automobile, tires and at times have been thrown with such force as to break plate glass windows. The gravel also makes additional work for the street cleaners on the paved streets. The police are determined to put a stop to the careless practice, and it is expected that the conviction this morning will prove a needed warning. Trouble in most cases arises from over-loading the wagons.

RICHARD CZERWONKY

Noted Virtuoso Concertmaster Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra At Myers Theatre Thursday July 18.

Richard Czerwonky, formerly second concertmaster and soloist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, was secured two years ago by the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra and has become a permanent member of that great organization. In securing Mr. Czerwonky who is an artist of international reputation and one of the few great violinists located in America, the Minneapolis Orchestra gave another indication of its determination to make itself second to none in this country. Mr. Czerwonky accompanied the orchestra on its two last spring tours as concertmaster and soloist, meeting with great success.

Mr. Czerwonky is a native of Birmann, Germany, and achieved much distinction during his student years. He is a pupil of Joachim, Florian Zajic and also of Andreas Moser. Twice he won the Mendelssohn prize, once the Joachim prize, besides several others. When Dr. Karl Nuck was "loaned" by the German Emperor to the Boston Symphony Orchestra, he brought Mr. Czerwonky with him to be soloist and assistant concertmaster, the young artist being then but twenty years old. He appeared with great success as soloist with the Boston Orchestra, and was the organizer and leader of the Czerwonky String Quartet which received the highest recognition from the leading critics of that city and vicinity. Since his location in Boston, he has been in constant demand for concert and recital work. Louis C. Elson, the widely known Boston critic, places Czerwonky in the same class with Kreisler.

DINNER STORIES

"At a bridge party Miss Antique was coupled with young Jack Smith and clung to him like a leech. By and by, during a temporary lull in the proceedings, she approached him cooly.

"Oh Mr. Smith," she said, "last night I had such a delightful dream! I positively dreamt that you and I—only you and I, mind—were traveling on our honeymoon. Do you ever have dreams like that, Mr. Smith?"

The young man considered for a second before deciding upon his reply. Then he broke up like a good man and true.

"I am afraid I used to, Miss Antique," he answered.

"But now, Mr. Smith?" she insisted.

"Where are we, Bobby?" she asked. "I don't know grandma," answered the little boy.

"Didn't the brakeman say something just now?"

"No. He just stuck his head inside the door and sneezed."

"Help me with these things, Bobby," she exclaimed, hurriedly. "This is Oshkosh. It's where we get off."

She had just finished reading that 7,000 bills were presented to congress in nine days. Do you think it business-like to have so many bills in such a short time?" she asked sharply. "We women could do much better. When we are represented in congress we'll prove it." Blithers scratched his head in perplexity. "How would you women stop it?" he demanded. "How would we stop it?" said Mrs. Blithers scornfully. "We'd pay cash as we went along."

The condemned man was asked if there was anything he desired. He brightened up. "Why yes," he replied, "I'd like to have capital punishment abolished." They told him this was impossible. Then he cheerfully added, "let's have the recall."

peck and over one quart which are not of standard size shall be stamped in terms of the fractional part of the peck in letters at least one inch in height.

Baskets or containers below one quart and not of the standard capacities given above shall be stamped in letters at least one-half inch in height in terms of the fractional part of the standard measure nearest above.

Variations or tolerances on barrels or containers of other size than those of standard size enumerated above shall be determined by the variations allowed in the next size smaller standard container, and in no case shall the variation be uniformly below in a test of six containers taken at random. All markings of other than standard size containers shall be upon the side or top of the container and not on the bottom.

Military Ignorance.

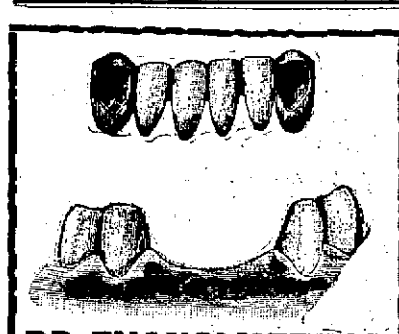

"The late Gen. P. D. Grant," said a Washington official, "was once complaining in my hearing about an ignorant officer. He likened this officer to a certain Private Cheney. 'Where is Cheney? What the dickens has become of Private Cheney?' So, he declared, Cheney was sought for one whole afternoon; but no tidings of him turned up until a comrade finally said: 'Cheney? Why, I saw Cheney about two hours ago. He was talking about going to get some gun cotton to sew a button on his pants with, and that's the last been heard of him, I believe.'"

DR. EVANS' METHOD

The cut here illustrates his method. Sometimes uses half spring collars so as not to mutilate sound healthy teeth. I make this form of work desirable. If only one or two teeth they had better be cemented fast. The loss of these front under-teeth greatly impairs beauty and faculty of speech.

SPORT SNAPSHOTS

by DAN MCGORTY

(By Dan McGorty.)
Jack Graney, of the Cleveland Naps, awoke the other morning and found himself famous. American league fans are all talking about a wonderful catch that he made in a game with Detroit.
Sam Crawford, of Detroit, made a long drive. Graney went after it.

He had to travel between 100 and 125 feet, and even then it didn't seem that he had a chance to bag the drive, as it was going over his head. But in a last desperate effort he leaped high in the air and stuck up his left hand—his meat hand by the way—and grabbed the flying sphere.
Crawford could hardly believe his eyes. "Give him an error on that one and give me a hit—along with it," he yelled up at the press box as he returned to the bench.
Dick Hoblitzell, of the Cincinnati Reds, lost his temper the other day and as a result has not been participating in some of the recent games. "As long as you are manager of the Cincinnati team I will not play," huffed Hoblitzell at Manager O'Day, who had been rebuking him for some mis-play. The manager decided to let Dick have what he wanted for a few days and benched him for insubordination.

The oldest baseball extent and the one that was used in the first championship game on record is now in the possession of a sporting goods house in Kansas City, Mo. It is ten inches in circumference, an inch larger than the present day regulation size, and is covered with one piece of leather. It was used in the game between the Intermountain team, of Boston, and the Portland, Me., team, Sept. 9, 1857. This was the first championship game ever played and was won by Portland, 47 to 42.

It was the first game in which the nine inning rule prevailed, and the first one in which the ball was pitched instead of tossed. The game was played on Boston commons.

The trotting stallion, Wynneon, known as the best trotter in the northwest, has been sold for $4,000 for export to South America.

That Omaha, Neb., and Indianapolis, Ind., will be dropped from the list of cities where stops will be made in the 1,800-mile American Grand Circuit aeroplane race, now seems assured. The trouble seems to be that neither of these cities can raise cash enough to attract the 45 birdmen who will take part in the race. In all, $100,000 is sought. Omaha couldn't scrape up $10,000, and will therefore miss the fun. Money for aviators seems to be scarce in Indianapolis, too. Chicago has agreed to raise $25,000.

What Makes a Woman.
One hundred and twenty pounds, more or less, of bone and muscle don't make a woman. It's a good foundation. But into it health and strength and she may rule a kingdom. But that's just what Electric Bitters give her. Thousands bless them for overcoming fainting and dizzy spells and for dispelling weakness, nervousness, backache and tired, listless, worn out feeling. "Electric Bitters have done me a world of good," writes Eliza Pool, Depew, Okla., "and I thank you, with all my heart, for making such a good medicine." Only 50c. Guaranteed by Peoples' Drug Co.

Lima and Newark share the record of playing the most sensational game ever played in the Ohio State League. The summary reads: 24 bases on balls; four batters hit; four wild pitches and a balk; one hundred and three batters toed the plate and 412 balls were pitched during the nine innings. Newark won 9 to 4.

MANY KINDS OF AMERICANS.

In some respects it is hardly fair to match such a country as this against any other in the world, in athletic sports. There is a variety of material to make champions of in the United States which no other nation can match.

The big American team at Stockholm comprises men of many nationalities and races, if they are classed by blood and origin. Some are of Irish descent, some of English, others of German ancestry. There are Indians, colored men and at least one Hawaiian. Most of the larger countries of Europe and some of the smaller nations have contributed to the American team, in respect to parentage or more remote origin.

So the American victories are won by athletes who represent the best brawn and endurance and skill in a nation which is really a blend of nations, with the fusion 95,000,000 strong. That is too much to compete with, as the results of the Olympic games are clearly demonstrating to the world.

DEMOCRATS TO GATHER.

Tomorrow in Milwaukee the democrats of the state are to gather for their "love fest" which promises to live up to the name and be a very heated affair. With two aspirants for the gubernatorial honors seeking endorsement—Schmitz and Karel—the delegations divided, it is safe to say that the followers of Jefferson and Jackson will have as interesting a session as the one just closed at Baltimore. In fact, the men who were in the heat of that fight are now leading the anti-Karel faction and will make things interesting. Janesville and Rock county will be represented in the struggle which will largely decide whether the ultra radicals or the more conservative democrats will control state affairs. Whoever is nominated, if he stands on a platform calling for the repeal of the obnoxious income tax, will receive hearty support regardless of party affiliation.

UTOPIAN DREAMS.

This nation is not going to be influenced by the Utopian dreams of the so-called reformers. Wilson, Roosevelt or their immediate followers can not influence the average voter to follow their banners when common sense dictates that the republican party and the republican doctrines are the best. When it is all said and done, when affairs quiet down to normal conditions, President Taft will receive the endorsement of the voters at the election in November. His four years in office may not have pleased some of the captains of industry, but taking it all in all the common people, the workers, have had four prosperous years and will not be willing to follow a will of the wisp promise of an untrue doctrine.

GRADY AND HIS MOTHER.

This is a true story about Henry W. Grady, the great editor, and his mother.

One day Mr. Grady said to his associates on the Atlanta Constitution, "I am going away for a week or so, and I don't want anybody to know where I am."

He went to Athens, his old home. When he came to his mother's house he took her into his great, strong arms and said:

"Mother, I've come home to you this time to be your own little boy Harry once more. I want you to treat me just like you used to in the old days. Cook for me the little pie dough cakes on the back of the stove, the ginger cakes with the raisins in the middle, the nice warm bread with the brown crust."

And while he was home that time he spent his days down at the old swimming hole and out in the barn where he would crawl over the old cotton gin and try to skin the cat on the pole. He loafed about the cabins and talked with the colored folk.

And in the afternoons—Grady, the great editor and orator, would lay his head down in his mother's lap and ask her to tell him the stories she used to tell about Joseph and David and Elijah and Daniel and the shepherds and the star and the Baby in the manger.

"When he would go to his bedroom he called his mother in and said: "I want you to tuck Harry in bed and hear him say his prayers. 'Now I lay me down to sleep.' " Then he would say, "Mother, set the light out in the hall and hold my hand in yours and sing me to sleep with that sweet Sunday school hymn:

"I think when I read that sweet story of old, When Jesus was here among men, How he called little children the lambs of his fold, I would like to have been with Him then."

For two blissful weeks Harry W. Grady played he was little Harry on the old farm with his mother.

And she? Why, she worshiped the ground upon which her boy Harry walked. And why not?

Maybe it was only a coincidence, but only a short time after Grady returned from the annual address before the New England society, in many respects the greatest oration since the war of the rebellion, "The Old South and the New."

And your mother? In the ongoing of your affairs have you been too busy to go back even for a day or two and be her little boy again?

A PERMANENT CAMP TO BE ESTABLISHED

BOY SCOUTS WILL HAVE OUTING UP THE RIVER FOR REST OF MONTH.

TENTS UP TOMORROW

"Captain" Hans Jaeke Scout Master In Charge of the Camp Proper. Many Will Enjoy Outing.

At a special meeting of Scout Commissioners held yesterday, it was decided to establish a permanent camp at the Chautauqua grounds up the river. Excellent camping grounds can be found here and the tents will all be placed with a view of comfort for the boys who will constitute the camp.

"Captain" Hans Jaeke, the field Scout Master, will have active charge of the camp proper and with Scout Master Bookout will see that as is done to make the outing a most profitable one for the members of the Janesville Boy Scouts. Three new tents have been purchased, to be the property of the Scouts, and others will be needed to complete the camp proper.

The boys will be under strict discipline and will be taught the rudiments of the Scout's life. They will be given instruction in wood craft and taught to swim, row and other parts of boat work. Frequent short hikes will be made and everything conducted in an orderly and proper manner.

Owing to the nearness to the city, being accessible both by the river and trolley, it will make an ideal spot for the camp. Supplies can easily be taken to the camp and parents can keep in close touch with their sons by telephone if need be. Boys who are members of the Scouts, who are working can be at the camp nights returning to the city early in the morning.

The boys held a meeting this afternoon and tomorrow Captain Jaeke will establish the camp, pitch the tents and the out of door life will begin for the rest of the present month. All Scouts are asked to report to Captain Jaeke as soon as possible whether they will attend the camp or not.

Next month it is probable that the Scouts will make a hike to Palmyra where the businessmen have invited them to be their guests, and aid in establishing a Scouts patrol in that city. The work this month will be in view of making this proposed trip overland.

HANSON'S CONDITION IS CRITICAL TODAY

Man Who Was Thrown From Scaffold Yesterday Is Very Low And May Not Recover From Injuries.

The condition of Peter Hanson, who was injured about four o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the scaffolding on which he was working at the Baines' warehouse at the corner of Madison and Wall streets gave way, was reported today as very low, and it is unknown whether or not his injuries will prove fatal. Besides a fractured skull, Mr. Hanson suffered severe internal injuries and just how serious these are, the physicians have been unable to determine. Larry Frederickson, who was also injured in the accident, is resting quite easily today and is feeling much better at the Mercy hospital. Mr. Frederickson fell from the scaffold onto his back, wrenching his back and receiving a bad shaking-up. The accident was due to a defective board, which gave way while the men were at work plastering the north side of the Baines' warehouse. Louis Nelson, who was working with them, was thrown to the ground with them, but by catching hold of a board below the one which gave way, managed to break the shock of his fall.

GRAIN MEN ASSAIL
HIGH FREIGHT RATE

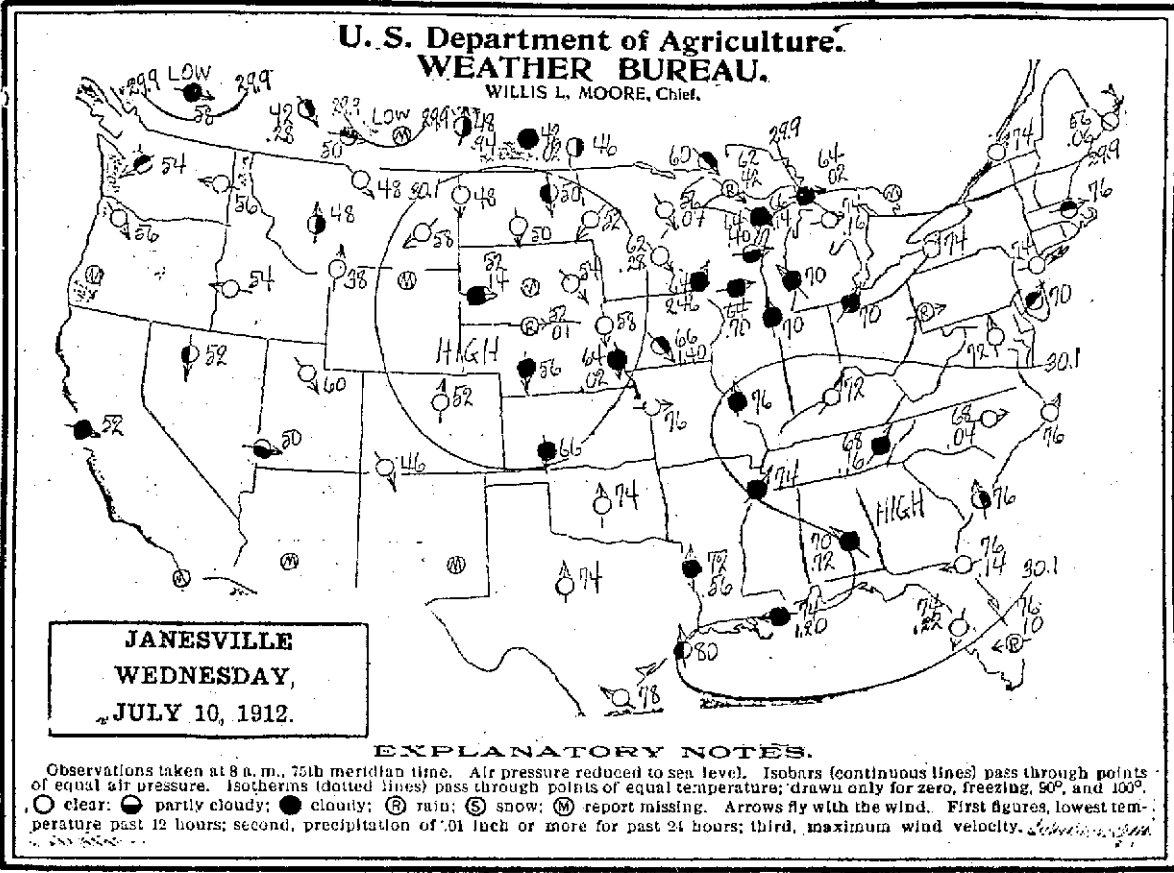

Dealers and Millers From all Parts of West Attended Commerce Commission Hearing Today.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Ill., July 10.—Prominent grain dealers and millers throughout the West attended the hearing conducted here today by Examiner Boyle of the Interstate Commerce Commission relative to alleged unjust rates on wheat from Minneapolis to Chicago. The proceeding is regarded as exceptionally important to the flour interests.
As a result of a milling-in-transit arrangement at Minneapolis, it is alleged, millers in the latter city are enabled to bring wheat there, turn it into flour and ship it to Chicago at the rate of 7 1/2 cents a hundred pounds. Chicago millers, on the other hand, are compelled to pay 10 cents a hundred pounds on wheat shipped here from Minneapolis. This arrangement, it is contended, enables Minneapolis millers to deliver their flour in Chicago at an advantage of 2 1/2 cents a hundred pounds, so far as freight charges are concerned, over the local millers.

The area of low atmospheric pressure that was moving eastward through Ontario yesterday has now reached the St. Lawrence valley. It was attended by showers and thunderstorms in the Lake Region and upper Mississippi valley. The rain fall was especially heavy in western Wisconsin and Iowa. La Crosse reports 2.46 inches for the past 24 hours, Des Moines 1.40, Dubuque .35, and Madison .70 in. The temperature continues high on the Atlantic coast, but it is cooler by 10 degrees or more in the central states. Another barometric depression is forming in the northern Rockies, and the temperature is rising on the north Pacific slope.

MARY ELLEN'S WAY

She Allows Mr. Mary Ellen to Persuade Her to Join a Suffrage Club

MARY ELLEN carefully laid a suffrage pamphlet where Mr. Mary Ellen could not fail to see it.

"Huh!" he said, as he settled into his easy chair after dinner. "So the suffragists have been around, have they?"

"Did I lay that circular there?" asked Mary Ellen innocently. "Some women called here today and left it."

"I hope you won't get any of those fool notions into your head," said Mr. Mary Ellen. "I don't want you joining the shrieking sisterhood, and going to jail, and doing stunts like that."

"I don't think I would much like going to jail. But I don't believe any American suffragists will ever go to jail. American men are too chivalrous to permit anything like that. If such a thing did happen, the men would make lots more fuss about it than the women. I can just imagine what you'd do, if anybody tried to put me in jail."

"That's right," agreed Mr. Mary Ellen. "What I'd do would be apertly."

"But I don't see," went on Mary Ellen, "why women shouldn't be up to date and use their brains."

"No reason at all," again agreed Mr. Mary Ellen. "Well, I never!"

Then Mary Ellen desisted for a time.

A few days later, she said, "That Mrs. Broomall, whom you admire so much, is an ardent suffragist."

"She is!" exclaimed Mr. Mary Ellen. "Well, I never!"

"Yes. And the club she belongs to is going to give a suffrage play. I think it would be fun to go, don't you? Everybody around here is going."

"Kind of dull, don't you think?"

"I bet it will be lots of fun. Besides, suffrage is really getting to be a big question, and you have always said a person ought to hear both sides of an issue. And you are right, dear, about that. It is small, just as you say, to be so narrow and bigoted as not to be willing to hear the other side."

"Yes," admitted Mr. Mary Ellen. "That's the only fairminded way to judge."

"Maybe I haven't brains enough to understand it—"

"Huh!" interrupted Mr. Mary Ellen. "I guess you have as good brains as any of the women belonging to that Suffrage Club."

"Well, anyway," said Mary Ellen, "if I can't understand it, you can. And you can explain it to me."

Mr. Mary Ellen looked somewhat gratified at this, and decided to go to the play.

"Do you know," said Mary Ellen, as they came home from the play, "when I see all those smart, up-to-date women interested in suffrage, I feel quite like a back number. Do you really suppose I'd have brains enough to understand it, if I tried?"

"The idea!" replied Mr. Mary Ellen indignantly. "Of course, you would. You'd beat those women all out if you took a hand."

"I don't know," said Mary Ellen sadly. "I don't believe they'd want such a little nobody as me in their club."

"Nobody! I guess you are as good as any of them. I bet they'd fall over themselves to have you join."

"Do you really think so?" asked Mary Ellen, brightening.

"Just try and see," declared Mr. Mary Ellen.

"Shall I?"

"By all means. Mark my words. They'll take you in with open arms."

"I believe I will. You have so much more experience than I have, dear, that you always are right about such things."

Heart and Home Problems

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—My elbows are very rough. What can I do to make them smooth?

(2)—I am fourteen years old. Do you think I am too young to have a beau? My mother and father never say anything, but laugh when I speak about a beau. Do you think they would object?

(3)—There is a boy I would like to be made acquainted with. How can it be done? Do you think sending a card would be all right?

(4)—What would be a nice way to have a silk dress made?

(5)—I am cross at a friend of mine. He thinks the fault is mine. He told the truth is the fault is his. He told a girl friend of mine that he wouldn't speak until I ask his pardon. Now dear friend, what would you advise me to do?

(6)—Is my writing good? Do you think 80, 85 and 90 were the right marks for my writing?

HOUSEHOLD TALKS

by Henrietta D. Grauel

(By Henrietta D. Grauel.)

Georgia, Virginia, Carolina, Maryland and other Southern states are celebrated for an individual style of cookery. In Louisiana and that part of our country settled by the Spanish we find other dishes with distinct peculiar characteristics. In the first named states the cookery is identical with that of colonial day, which was only an adapted form of genuine English cooking. This is today the true American cuisine uncontaminated by hodge-podge flavors added by every incoming immigrant with a garlic, onion and oil-loving palate.

The cooking classed as Southern might well be termed "Mayflower

(2)—Be good friends with the nice boys, but don't think of having a beau until you are a few years older. A beau is a serious matter, my dear. The kind of boy that would please you now will not please you at all when you are eighteen or twenty years old, and a nice girl doesn't want to have beaux until she is old enough to marry. Your parents do not consider your thought of a beau as a serious matter because you are so young. That is why they laugh. They would probably not like it very well if they thought you were serious about it.

(3)—Do not send him a card. Get some mutual friend to introduce him to you.

(4)—Choose a style from the fashion pictures in one of the popular women's magazines.

(5)—Just don't pay any attention to him. If he wants to be friends with you he'll come around. If not, you don't care, do you?

(6)—You write legibly. Your teacher knows best what marks to give you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—We are two companions, always together; one fourteen, one fifteen. Are we too young to come home with young fellows? (2)—Our parents do not want us to come with fellows, but do you think it would be proper to refuse their company as long as we know they are decent and respectable? (3)—Do you think 10 o'clock is too late for us to be up town Sunday evenings? (4)—Are we too young to make dates with anyone? (5)—Is it proper for us to exchange postcards with boys occasionally? (6)—Is it proper for a fellow to take your arm on the street?

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

TWO KINDS OF DAYS.

WE WERE sitting on the veranda rejoicing in the glorious burst of sunshine that followed a heavy shower.

Said Molly, the little stenographer lady, with a long-drawn sigh of content, "Well, this is the kind of day I like."

"Oh, is it?" queried the Wants-to-be-Cynic scornfully. "Well there's no accounting for tastes. Of course I may be peculiar in mine, but it does seem to me that an hour or two of hard rain isn't exactly ideal weather for a holiday morning."

"Courage, comrade, the devil is dead," quoted the Author Man cheerfully. "In other words, it has stopped raining. Still, I do agree with you that it isn't just the kind of day I should have picked out myself. If I had been consulted."

"If you will give me a chance," put in Molly, who had been wrinking her nose defiantly. "I'll go on and finish my sentence. I was about to say that this was the kind of day I liked because it knew enough to rain and get it over with, instead of half raining or opening and shutting all day. Just think of yesterday: how it was dull all the morning and misty all the afternoon. Of course it didn't really rain once, but it was uncomfortable all day long. Myself, I'd rather have today—one hard shower and then bright sunshine."

"I beg leave to withdraw my objections, Molly," said the Author Man. "I'd rather have today any time."

"And today's people, too," suggested the Lady-who-always-knows-somewhat.

"Infinitely," said the Author Man, with an emphasis that suggested he had altogether too good reason for understanding the simile.

"What does all that mean?" inquired Molly.

"It means," translated the Author Man, "that we prefer the kind of people who storm hard for a little while, and then clear off completely, to the other kind."

"I had an uncle and an aunt once who were just opposites that way," reminisced the Lady-who-always-knows-somewhat. "My uncle was displeased with my aunt or any of us, he would speak very sternly, but the minute he had said what he wanted to, he would go right back to his old manner and be as pleasant as if nothing had happened. Aunt never would be half-so stern, but she couldn't get over it if anything troubled her. She'd look cross for hours and she'd keep breaking out with her grievances. Sometimes she would make the whole house uncomfortable all day. I was only a child when I used to visit them, but I made up my mind even then that uncle's way was the best."

"I wonder," mused Molly, "which kind of day I am."

Which kind are you?

cookery" by we who pride ourselves on our good English ancestry.

Old Virginia Fried Chicken with Cream Gravy—The very name serves one that there will be no saucy plates left on the table when that is served. Cut a half pound of bacon in dice and fry it until the fat is extracted but not until it browns. Strain out the "cracklings" as the cooked pork is called and return the pan with the fat in it to the fire. Have ready a broiler that has been carefully wiped out before, re-jointing with a moist cloth and salted and peppered. Dredge the legs and breast first with flour and start them cooking in the hot fat, then put in the smaller pieces that do not need to cook so long. Turn each piece twice so it will be entirely browned. Drain free of grease and set aside to keep hot in a covered dish over hot water or in the warming oven.

Cream Gravy—Add a tablespoon of butter to the fat in the pan, into this stir several tablespoons of flour. The exact proportion is a tablespoon of flour to one of fat. Keep stirring over a moderate heat until the flour is browned; now pour in, still stirring two cups of cold milk, little by little. When this is of the right consistency add seasoning of minced parsley, salt and pepper.

Northern cooks consider corn meal mixtures too heating for summer time; in the South white flour is mixed with it and delectable hot breads served at least once every day all the year round.

South of the Mason and Dixon line they mix their corn bread with as much care as we give to company cake, thus:

One pint of new cornmeal salted and scalded with a pint of boiling new milk to which has been added a speck of soda. Set aside and beat four eggs, the yolks and whites separately. Sift half a pint of flour with two tablespoons of sugar and two teaspoons of baking powder, mix in the scalded meal and the beaten eggs, add a tablespoon of bacon dripping or butter, mix together lightly and bake in a loaf or in gem pans. The batter should not be too thick. This same mixture may be made thinner and baked on a griddle. If one has buttermilk that is beginning to sour use water to scald the meal; omit the sweet milk and baking powder and use the buttermilk with soda, this makes a sweeter, finer corn bread but it is difficult to have the buttermilk in the city.

Kentucky Coconut Cream Pudding—Measure an equal amount of sweet butter, mix with the same amount of powdered sugar, beat together until light and add five eggs, one at a time, beating continuously. Now turn in a pint of rich milk and the grated meat of two large cocon-

The Magic Art of Growing Hair and Other Beauty Secrets

By Miss Valeska Suratt

Valeska Suratt is the Only Woman on the American Stage Who Wears No Puffs, "Rats" or Switches

Miss Suratt in Her $3,000 Black Velvet Costume Trimmed with Rhinestones

ONCE I knew a lady "and a very nice lady" who was always tangled with a mass of broken and dying hair after she had finished combing it. Of course, some hair will always come out on the comb or brush, but what I mean is that it every coming she drew out almost enough hair in a week to make a good sized pin cushion. If her hair had not been naturally rapid in its growth she would by this time be almost bald. She had to wear rats and puffs and switches of course, as most women do, to make up for the loss. She tried nearly everything under the sun, and girl disgusted. That "nice lady" was myself. Now this lady, very remarkable as this may seem to you, wears no rats, no puffs, no switches. She has enough hair to make up in any way she likes in a few minutes, without having to have recourse to any of these subterfuges.

How do I do it? How did I stop my hair from falling out after having tried everything recommended by my friends and most of the "treatments" advertised? It was a certain head-wash I had been using for some time. I at once experimented further, and found what I have been able to prove since, is the most remarkable hair and scalp treatment I have ever used or heard of, and I have tried them nearly all.

Here it is: With a half-pint of water mix a pint of alcohol. To this add one ounce of beta-quinol. Shake thoroughly, and it will then be ready to use. If you prefer you can use imported hair tonic instead of the water and alcohol.

The beta-quinol you can get at almost any drug store for not more than fifty cents. The ordinary prepared hair tonic which you buy in the stores usually cost you one dollar. But this formula makes you feel that of the best hair grower and tonic one can ever hope to obtain.

This formula should be applied very freely on the scalp after brushing the scalp generously for a few minutes and once. Rub the tonic thoroughly into the scalp with finger tips. This will surely stop your hair from falling out. You should notice the difference away in a week or ten days. After a while you should notice your hair beginning to take on new life. It will have a more silky appearance and will begin to grow more luxuriantly than it will be one of your greatest prizes.

MRS. ELLEN T. asks: "What can I do to get rid of pimples? I have had them for years and in spite of the fact, too, that I am very careful what I eat."

The food you eat has really less to do with the outbreak of pimples than most people think. Besides, you can surely get rid of them without having to diet at all. If you will dissolve two or three ounces of granulated sugar in one-half pint of water, and add one ounce of arsenic and mix the whole together thoroughly, adding more water to make a pint, you will have one of the most splendid and effective pimple removers it is possible to obtain. Arsenic is a fluid which you can get at the drug store by the ounce. It makes a blood remedy which has an exceedingly wonderful purifying effect in a very short time.

Take one or two teaspoonsful of this mixture three or four times a day with a little water if desired.

You will of course, appreciate the fact that I am giving you something which is absolutely safe in every respect. You will find the difference in your face in short order.

"You Should Notice the Difference in Your Hair Anyway in a Week or Ten Days."

Flora Freckles—I am surprised you should counsel to use such a rank poison on your face. This constitutes the main principle in most of the treatments sold for whitening the skin. It makes the skin rough, cuts into the outer skin and usually ruins all prospects of ever beautifully brightening the complexion. Some time ago I gave my readers my secret for whitening the skin, which I believe you will say is really a marvel. It will at the same time make your face bloom like a rose, and as soft as velvet. I will repeat it here in a few words:

Boil half a pint of water. Add two tablespoonsful of glycerine. Keep stirring while adding one ounce of zinc oxide. If it is all dissolved, then let cool. If the cream is too thick to pour easily from a bottle, thin it down a little with more hot water. The cream will be white and satiny. After bathing in the morning, hold a wet, hot towel to the face several minutes for several minutes. Rub the cream in the entire face liberally. Let the cream dry on the face. Repeat this again at night. Any good druggist will sell you an ounce of zinc oxide for about fifty cents.

CORAH—Many women complain of red, rough hands. If you will read my instructions above to Flora Freckles, you will surely see the result in a short time. This formula will whiten and soften the arms and hands most beautifully.

MISS ENGAGED—I have had a great many requests for the best hair remover. Next Wednesday I will give you full details and the formula, use it constantly. The results will surprise you.

FONDA—What shall I do for wrinkled hands? At only 35 and 40, they are a sight. Also for dry feet. This is one of my beauty formulas. I gave it some time ago, but will repeat it here.

In one-half pint of boiling water, pour two tablespoonsful of glycerine. In a few minutes add two ounces of lard and continue stirring until all dissolved. At first it will look like jelly, then it will start to cream. When it does this, remove from the fire and add a couple of drops of perfume. Keep in air-tight jar. You should be able to get equal at any good drug store and it should not cost you more than fifty cents. This will last quite a while.

Apply this cream every morning with the tips of the fingers, after washing your face with very warm water and soap. Use very liberally. After you have applied it, take up the flesh in your fingers, pinch it and hold it for a few minutes until the cream disappears. Then apply your complexion powder. This cream will not grow hair.

NAMBLASS—You will find a remarkable difference in your skin and look of face by using the following:

In a half-pint of hot water, dissolve two ounces of rice and half a cup of sugar, all well mixed together. Add this, take two teaspoonsful three or four times a day in a wine-glass of water, after your meals. I have found this to be a powerful tonic, giving astonishing results in a few weeks' time. It will cost you one dollar at the drug store. It will do all you can ever ask of any treatment for this purpose. You will assist the development a great deal by massaging the bust with the opol cream mentioned above.

EUSICE—if you will use the beta-quinol formula treatment given above on your eyebrows, you will find a decided result in a short time. It is a very powerful promoter of hair growth, the best I have ever known. It will do the

A WOMAN'S OBSERVATIONS

Edna K. Woolley

There are men and women who, when they enter their various occupations, are bright, quick, full of ideas, assets to their employers. But does the employer think of conserving this good material for any lengthy period? Does he so arrange the work and time of his employees that they may be as valuable to him in their mature years as they are in their youth?

Not as a rule. This average idea is to get all that is possible out of an employee in as short a time as possible, then fire him for a fresh one.

The conservation of forests, of waterways, of the country's other natural resources—these were all thought of before the conservation of humanity; and the construction of humanity is so closely interwoven with the conservation of the employee that the one cannot be dealt with apart from the other.

Something must be done so that the comfort and profit of the few shall not be earned by the suffering and the suffering out of the many.

There is something wrong in an industrial system where the brain or body or energies of an employee are worn out at forty—a thing so ordinary that now we speak of it as a matter of course.

But we are beginning to look askance at the employer who appropriates to himself the best of a man until he has arrived at a premature uselessness, and then casts him aside as a worthless bit of flotsam. We want to know what's the matter with the employer because he has received so much and the employee so little. We want to know why the one is hale and hearty and still in the ring, while the other is down and out? We want to know if the tout has been a fair and square one; we have a suspicion there's been a foul somewhere.

Eternal Fitness of Things. It is pretty generally agreed that a man should dress according to his station. This means, perhaps, that a man with a low salary should not wear a high hat.

EXTEND THANKS FOR TROPHIES OFFERED

Commercial League Managers Express Appreciation to George S. Parker and H. L. McNamara for Trophies.

At the weekly meeting of the managers of the teams of the Commercial league at the Y. M. C. A. building last evening, a vote of thanks was extended to H. L. McNamara for the trophy which he has offered the league for the team winning second place this season, and resolution was adopted approving of the vote of thanks extended to George S. Parker at last week's meeting, thanking him for the silver loving cup for the team winning first place. The letter from the managers was presented to Mr. Parker today. Mr. McNamara has not yet announced what the trophy for second place will be.

Harlow Clark, who pitched for the Hanson Furniture company's team in last Saturday's game, was expelled from the league for the season, this action being taken by the managers as an example to other players who might be tempted to offend in the manner Clark did. Clark, it was alleged, in playing against the Y. M. C. A. became angry at his teammates and "laid down," allowing the Y. M. C. A. team to win.

McMahon who pitched last Saturday for the Northwestern team, was voted in as an outside member of the team by the managers last evening. Manager Fraunfelder of the roundhouse team complained that owing to the fact that his men were often called away just previous to a game, he did not have a full lineup upon which he could depend. This action by the managers allows the roundhouse team two outside men besides McMahon.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

How Martin Brushman of Wrightstown, Wis., Escaped the Surgeon's Knife.

Dear Dr. Goddard:—

In regard to my rupture which you cured two years ago, I am getting along fine; it does not bother me in the least and does not show the least bit. I am as good as I ever was, and it is two years last January since I took your treatment. I thank you ever so much and I would advise everyone who has a rupture to see you before some one else, for they can save lots of trouble and expense.

Yours truly,
MARTIN BRUSHMAN,
Wrightstown, Wis.

Such proof cannot be manufactured or imitated and no man can offer stronger evidence of his ability and honesty than the written words of those he has cured. If you want to prove this statement write to Mr. Brushman. Perhaps you know him, if so ask him.

Notice I refer you to people right here in this state, not miles away.

80 per cent of all ruptures can be cured without operation.

If you cannot be cured without an operation I will frankly tell you so, but the chances are eight to two that you can be cured without pain, without losing a day's time from your work, and without half the ordinary operating expenses, and without leaving home.

Send for my little book on "Treatment Without Operation." It is free for the asking, and then come and see me at the Myers Hotel, Janesville, Tuesday, July 16. Consultation free.

UPPER BERTH LAW IS HELD INVALID

Judge Stevens of Madison Holds That Railroads Are Not Compelled To Observe Its Requirements.

Just when the weather is the hottest and travel the most uncomfortable, Judge H. Ray Stevens, formerly of Janesville, in circuit court at Madison, in a decision yesterday, declared invalid the upper berth law, which provides that whenever a person shall occupy a lower berth in a sleeping car and the upper berth of the same section shall at the same time be engaged not occupied the upper one shall not be let down.

The case was that of the estate against the Milwaukee Road. James T. Hall was a passenger on a sleeping car of the defendant company from Portage to Star Lake and died enroute. The man in charge of the car, that the upper berth of the section occupied remain closed, pursuant to provisions of chapter 272 laws of 1911. The railway employee refused to comply with the request.

Judge Stevens finds that the closing of upper berths has very little effect upon the circulation of air in sleeping cars, when all lower berths are made up and ready for occupancy, that the lowering of the upper berths does not endanger the lives, health or safety of persons occupying lower berths; that the closing of the upper berth will be a convenience to a person occupying the lower one and add to his comfort alone, and to that of the public generally; that the defendant has the right to charge for the use of space occupied by the upper berth and that such right is the property of the defendant. The court holds that chapter 272 is not a valid exercise of police power, nor of reserve power to alter or amend the charter of the defendant company, and is void of no effect because it takes the defendant's property without just compensation and without the process of law.

The upper berth bill was introduced by Assemblyman Ray Nye, Superior.

MUST LOCK-UP DOG IF YOU WANT MAIL

Postmaster General Issues Orders to This Effect to Protect Rural Mail Carriers.

If you live on one of these rural routes in Rock county, or in any county, and own a savage dog that runs out and barks at the rural mail carrier you may miss your mail some of these fine days and wonder why.

Within the past few weeks the watch dogs of the country have developed such marked propensity for chewing mail carriers, that the postmaster general was moved today to call attention to the regulations which provide that a carrier is not required to humor the dogs under the circumstances.

"Carriers," say the regulations, "are not required to deliver mail at residences where vicious dogs are permitted to run at large. Persons keeping such dogs must call at the post office for their mail."

This paragraph in the regulations will be strictly applied henceforth and the owners of dogs must either put them on a diet or keep them locked up if they want mail delivered at their houses.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

THE NORTH POLE.

By Howard L. Rana.

THE north pole is a geographical joke which is discovered in a new spot every two or three years by somebody who is trying to qualify for the Chautauqua circuit. It is located several feet out of the beaten path of travel, and is inhabited by the disoblained polar bear and the near seal industry. It used to be considered quite a feat to discover the north pole without being shipped home in the form of a human placid butter late years so many people have sailed off while they waited some candy-making articles that the society has worn off. It is safe to predict that inside of two years the north pole will be used as a safe trap from Medicine Hat, although it will never be popular for honey-moon purposes on account of the inferior hotel accommodations. Every once in awhile somebody starts for the pole with a tape line and a collection of American baked beans, and after showing the trail with sardine cans and the remains of deceased dogs returns with a popular lecture, and is hailed as a hero at $1.50 seat. Discovering the pole is a highly profitable business. One December, into it one evening, just after he had eaten the harness of the lead dog and was about to succumb in a cordial and careless manner, but as he forgot to bring back only thing but an unsullied reputation and a prejudice against bathing he was received with considerable hauteur and is now in a state of total eclipse. Commodore Perry discovered the pole in a quiescent and upright attitude at high noon, and was so impressed by the sight that he draped himself over it and was photographed in an astonished look after which he whittled off a few splinters and carried them home in the pockets of his seakins pants. Mr. Perry claims to be the only man who ever returned from the pole with anything in the form of proof more tangible than a fountain pen and a cold in the head. People who have visited the north pole say that it is a very disagreeable place to spend the winter in, as a man can't step out on the porch in the cool of the evening for a breath of air without being stabbed in the vertebrae by a protuberant icicle or soldered to a lawn settee in a white duck suit.

The Three Guardsmen

... By ...

ALEXANDRE DUMAS

M. Bonacieux was standing at his door. D'Artagnan's intention was to go out without speaking to the worthy mercer, but the latter made so polite and friendly a salutation that his tenant felt obliged not only to stop, but to enter into conversation with him.

Besides, how is it possible to avoid a little conversation toward a husband whose pretty wife has appointed a meeting with you that same evening at St. Cloud, opposite the pavilion of M. d'Estrees?

The conversation naturally fell upon the incarceration of the poor man. M. Bonacieux expatiated at great length upon the Bastille.

D'Artagnan listened to him with exemplary complaisance and when he had finished said:

"And M. Bonacieux, do you know who carried her off, for I do not forget that I owe to that unpleasant circumstance the good fortune of having made your acquaintance?"

"Ah," said Bonacieux. "They took good care not to tell me that, and my wife-on-her-part has sworn to me by all that's sacred that she does not know. But you," continued M. Bonacieux in a tone of perfect bonhomie, "what has become of you for several days past? I have not seen either you or any of your friends."

"My dear M. Bonacieux, my friends and I have been on a little journey."

"Far from Paris?"

"Oh, Lord, no! About forty leagues only. We went to take M. Athos to the waters of Forges, where my friends have remained."

"May I know whether you will be late tonight?" asked Bonacieux.

"Why do you ask me that question, my dear host?"

"Since my arrest and the robbery that was committed in my house I am alarmed every time I hear a door opened, particularly in the night."

"Well, don't be alarmed if I come home at 1, 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning. Indeed, do not be alarmed if I do not come at all."

This time Bonacieux became so pale that D'Artagnan could not do otherwise than perceive it and asked him what was the matter.

"Nothing," replied Bonacieux, "nothing, only since my misfortunes I have been subject to faintnesses."

"Perhaps this evening Mme. Bonacieux will visit the conjugal domicile?"

"Mme. Bonacieux is not at liberty this evening," replied the husband seriously. "She is detained at the Louvre this evening by her duties."

"So much the worse for you, my dear host."

And the young man departed, laughing at his joke, which he thought he alone comprehended.

"Ah, have your laugh out!" replied Bonacieux in a sepulchral tone.

But D'Artagnan was too far off to hear him, and if he had heard him in the disposition of mind he then enjoyed he would not have remarked it.

He found M. de Treville in the joy of his heart. He had thought the king and queen charming at the ball. The cardinal had been particularly ill-tempered.

"Now," said M. de Treville, lowering his voice and looking round to every corner of the apartment to see if they were alone, "now let us talk about you, my young friend, for it is evident that your fortunate return has something to do with the joy of the king, the triumph of the queen and the humiliation of the cardinal. You must take care of yourself."

"What have I to fear," replied D'Artagnan, "as long as I shall have the good fortune to enjoy the favor of their majesties?"

"Everything, believe me. The cardinal is not the man to forget a mystification until he has settled his accounts with the mystifier."

"Do you believe that the cardinal knows as much as you do and knows that I have been in London?"

"London! Was it from London you brought that beautiful diamond that glitters on your finger? Beware, my dear D'Artagnan, a present from an enemy is not a good thing."

"This diamond does not come from an enemy, monsieur," replied D'Artagnan. "It comes from the queen."

"From the queen! Oh, oh!" said M. de Treville. "Why, it is indeed a true royal jewel, which is worth 1,000 pistoles if it is worth a denier. By whom did the queen send you this jewel?"

"She gave it to me herself." And he related to M. de Treville how the affair had passed.

"Listen to me," said M. de Treville: "shall I give you a good piece of advice—a piece of friendly advice?"

"You will do me honor, monsieur," said D'Artagnan.

"Well, then, go to the nearest goldsmith's and sell that diamond for the highest price you can get from him. He will give you at least 800 pistoles. Pistoles have no name, young man, and that ring has a terrible one, which may betray him who wears it."

"Sell this ring—a ring which comes from my sovereign—never!" said D'Artagnan.

"Then at least turn the gem inside, you silly fellow, for everybody must be aware that a cadet from Gascony does not find such gems in his mother's jewel case."

"You think, then, I have something to dread?" asked D'Artagnan. "What must I do?"

"Be particularly, and at all times, on your guard. The cardinal has a tenacious memory and a long arm. You may depend upon it, he will repay you by some ill turn. Take every care. The least that can be expected is that you will be arrested. Mistrust everybody, your friend, your brother, your mistress—your mistress in particular. A woman is one of the cardinal's favorite means."

D'Artagnan thought of the appointment Mme. Bonacieux had made with him for that very evening, but M. de Treville did not inspire him with the least suspicion of his pretty hostess.

"But," resumed M. de Treville, "what has become of your three companions?"

"I left them on my road—Porthos at Chantilly, with a duel on his hands; Aramis at Crevecoeur, with a ball in his shoulder, and Athos at Amiens, detained by an accusation of poisoning."

"See there, now!" said M. de Treville. "And how did you escape?"

"By a miracle, monsieur. I must acknowledge, with a sword thrust in my breast and by nailing M. le Comte de Wardes on the byroad to Calais like a butterfly on a tapestry."

"There again! De Wardes, one of the cardinal's men, a cousin of Rochefort's. In your place I would do one thing. I would take, without the sound of drum or trumpet, the road to Picardy and would go and make some inquiries concerning my three companions."

"Tomorrow I will set out."

"Tomorrow! And why not this evening?"

"This evening, monsieur, I am detained in Paris by an indispensable business."

"Ah, young man, young man, some love passage or other! Take my advice and set out this evening."

"It is impossible, monsieur."

"Well, promise if you should not happen to be killed tonight that you will go tomorrow."

"I promise you, monsieur."

And D'Artagnan left. M. de Treville

penetrated more than ever by his paternal solicitude for his musketeers. He called successively at the abodes of Athos, Porthos and Aramis. None of them had returned. Their lackeys likewise were absent, and nothing had been heard of either masters or servants.

As he passed the Hotel des Gardes he took a glance into the stables. Three out of the four horses were already arrived. Planchet, all astonishment, was busy grooming them and had already faltered two.

"Ah, monsieur," said Planchet on perceiving D'Artagnan, "how glad I am to see you. Do you place confidence in our landlord, M. Bonacieux?"

"If? Not the least in the world."

"While you were talking with him I watched him. Monsieur, his countenance changed so two or three times!"

"Indeed!"

"Still more, as soon as monsieur had left and disappeared round the corner of the street M. Bonacieux took his hat, shut his door and set off at a quick pace in an opposite direction."

"It seems you are right, Planchet. All this appears to be a little mysterious."

"Monsieur jokes, but monsieur will see. He has not renounced his excursion for this evening?"

"Quite the contrary, Planchet. At 9 o'clock he is ready here at the hotel. I will come and take you."

Planchet seeing there was no longer any hope of making his master renounce his project heaved a profound sigh and set to work to groom the third horse.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Pavilion.

At 9 o'clock D'Artagnan was at the Hotel des Gardes. He found Planchet under arms. The fourth horse had arrived. Planchet was armed with his musketoon and a pistol. D'Artagnan had his sword and placed two pistols in his belt. Then both mounted and departed quietly. It was quite dark, and no one saw them go out.

D'Artagnan crossed the quays, went out by the gate of La Conference and proceeded along the road, much more beautiful then than it is now, which leads to St. Cloud.

As soon as the road began to be more lonely and dark Planchet drew softly nearer to D'Artagnan, so that when they entered the Bois de Boulogne he found himself riding quite naturally side by side with his master. D'Artagnan could not help perceiving that something more than usual was passing in the mind of his lackey and said:

"Well, Master Planchet, what is the matter with us now?"

"Ah, monsieur," replied Planchet, recurring to his besetting idea, "that M. Bonacieux has something vicious in his eyebrows, his lips!"

"What makes you think of Bonacieux now?"

"Monsieur, we think of what we can and not of what we will. Is not that the barrel of a musket which glitters yonder? Had we not better lower our heads?"

"In truth," murmured D'Artagnan, to whom M. de Treville's warning recurred, "in truth this animal will end by making me afraid." And he put his horse into a trot.

Planchet followed the movements of his master as if he had been his shadow and was soon trotting by his side.

"Are we going to continue this pace all night?" asked Planchet.

"No, for you on your part are at your journey's end. You are cold, Planchet. Go into one of those inns that you see yonder, and be waiting for me at the door by 6 o'clock in the morning."

D'Artagnan sprang from his horse, threw the bridle to Planchet and departed at a quick pace, folding his cloak around him.

"Good Lord, how cold I am!" cried Planchet as soon as he had lost sight of his master, and in such haste was he to warm himself, that he went straight to a house set out with all the attributes of a suburban inn and knocked at the door.

In the meantime D'Artagnan, who had plunged into a bypath, continued his route and gained St. Cloud. He found himself soon in front of the pavilion named. It was situated in a very private spot. A high wall at the angle of which was the pavilion, ran along one side of this lane, and on the other was a little garden, connected with a poor cottage, which was protected from passengers by a hedge.

He gained the place appointed, and as no signal had been given him by which to announce his presence, he waited.

Not the least noise was to be heard. It might be imagined that he was a hundred miles from the capital. D'Artagnan leaned against the hedge, after having cast a glance behind him. At the end of a few minutes the belfry of St. Cloud let fall slowly ten strokes from its sonorous jaws.

His eyes were fixed upon the little pavilion situated at the angle of the wall, of which all the windows were closed with shutters, except one on the first story. Through this window shone a mild light.

D'Artagnan waited half an hour without the least impatience. The belfry of St. Cloud struck half-past 10. This time, without at all knowing why, D'Artagnan felt a cold shiver run through his veins.

The idea seized him that he had read incorrectly, and that the appointment was for 11 o'clock. But he had not been mistaken; the appointment was for 10 o'clock.

He resumed his post, beginning to be pretty uneasy at this silence and this solitude. Eleven o'clock struck. D'Artagnan began now really to fear that something had happened to Mme. Bonacieux. He clapped his hands three times, the ordinary signal of lovers, but nobody replied to him—not even an echo. He then thought with a touch of vexation that perhaps the young woman had fallen asleep while waiting for him.

At that moment he thought of some trees, upon whose leaves the light still shone, and as one of them drooped over the road he thought that from its branches he might succeed in getting a glimpse of the interior of the room. In an instant he was among the branches, and his keen eyes plunged through the transparent window into the interior of the pavilion.

It has been growth of home industries, and the multiplicity of opportunities thus opened that has made many of our cities grow to positions of importance in wealth and population.

Janesville has the industries and it is upon their growth that the future of the city depends. It is of utmost importance that we do our part to make their rapid growth certain.

Forty Years Ago

Janesville Gazette, July 10, 1872.—The Clear Lake Gathering. This morning's special train from this city to Milton Junction, was laden with over six hundred picnicers for the Rock County Sabbath School Anniversary at Clear Lake today. About as many more went from here by private conveyances, which will swell the juvenile representation to a round thousand, and, perhaps, a hundred or two more to make the number hold good. The children of the Methodist, Baptist, Congregational and Presbyterian Sabbath schools attended in regular organized delegations, bearing banners and flags, and each member of the pleasure seeking band was as happy as the fulfillment of bright anticipations, long treasured up for this occasion, could make them. Most of the towns in the county are as well represented, in proportion to population, as our own city, and it is probable that Clear Lake is today the scene of the largest Sabbath school gathering ever held in Rock county.

Janesville Boys in Racine College. The closing exercises of commencement at Racine, are being held today. This is one of the most prosperous educational institutions of the country. There are five Janesville boys in this school. Acton Fox, Theodore Hudson, Frank Eump, J. B. Doe, Jr., and William McKey. The first three expect to graduate next year. The Janesville boys have received many complimentary notices from the professors, both for conduct and scholarship. They were all former pupils of the Rev. Mr. Durin, late of Trinity parish school.

Brief Items. Two boys in the fourth ward were considerably turned by a powder explosion on the fifth inst. The water in the upper mill pond is covered with a green scum, thick enough to start a skating park on.

Bill Bird: "I can't see why folks put the seed so far into the ground—how can they expect us to get them!"

Summer is alluring
When it's far away;
Homage it's securing—
This we gladly pay.
Find another kicker.

But when it has come hot
And we feel the smart
Then we think it somewhat
Overdoes the part.

July 10

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY
A romance or pleasant friendship will come to you in the near future and all indications point to a happy year, except some disagreements.

These should be settled quietly.
Those born today will have fortunate careers and will be known among people of prominence.

Flowers as a Cult.
One of the most practical plans for inculcating among the masses a taste for plants and flowers has been hit upon by the city fathers of the little Hessian town of Alzey, where each girl in the public elementary schools receives every spring two plants to care for. Inspectors at the end of the season make their report, which is invariably good.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist

NUTRITION IMPAIRED BY TOO MUCH FAT IN DIETARY.

"Too much fat is a frequent cause of trouble, and many children are often unintentionally overfed with fat," says Dr. John Ruhrah in the Journal of the American Medical Association. "These are cases of malnutrition in which large quantities of butter, cream, cod-liver oil and other fats are given with the idea of fattening the child and restoring its normal condition. The result is that the nutrition is not improved but is usually made worse." Fat prevents the access of the saliva to the starch in the mouth and stomach and also interferes with the action of the gastric and intestinal juices upon the proteids. The standard dietaries give two ounces of fat as the required amount in the daily ration of the average man doing moderate work, but none is furnished the horse, except the small percentage he may get in oats or corn. The cow that makes four per cent in her milk gets none in hay, and it has been shown by recent experiments that calves do better on milk with little fat. The invalid is always advised to take toast without butter, and certainly bread is more digestible for the dyspeptic without butter, however desirable it may be to cater to the taste.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher
Copyright, 1909, by George W. Mason, Adams
BY WALT MASON

I said: "I'll write some rhymes, so clever that they will bring me fame." And so I jeered at man's endeavor and all this mortal game. I took the ground that life is rotten, it's only goal a stake, that virtue is a thing forgotten, and every man's a fake. For years my talents were devoted to proving life a snare; by all the cynics I was quoted, by Alecks everywhere. I strove to see the dark side only of things, and, growing old, I found myself so doggedly lonely my heart grew bleak and cold. My neighbors used to dodge and flout me; a former friend would say, "He'll write in his way." The people of the village feared me; they feared my caustic jest; and no man jollied me or cheered me or clasped me to his breast. So, tired of hate and muttered curses, I came forth from my trance, and urged the world, through dippy verses, to smile and sing and dance. The people like a joyous clacker! They read my luscious lays, and came and borrowed my tobacco as in the good old days! No longer did my neighbors shun me, or send for the police! They came around and said they'd run me for justice of the peace! If you go round the world a-snarling, you'll walk a lonely way; but you may be the village darling, if you are blithe and gay.

The Skin and Not the Blood.
Until recently it has been a generally accepted theory that eczema was a disease of the blood. Scientific investigations have taught us that eczema is positively a skin disease and curable through the skin alone. Meritol Eczema Remedy is applied directly to the diseased skin, the effect is marvelous and its results permanent. Do not delay trying Meritol Eczema Remedy. Reliable Drug Co., Sole Agents.
